

SICILIAN PORT RIVALS CHICAGO IN WAREHOUSES

(Correspondence of Associated Press)
CATANIA, Sicily, May 16.—Hopes of making Catania, the "Chicago of the Mediterranean," have been established in the hearts of many Sicilians since the stabilization of affairs in Europe seems to be promised by the new peace treaties.
Catania expects to become the warehouse center for the accumulation of the vast commerce beyond the Black Sea, a territory extremely fertile and rich in minerals and oils. Situated at the strategic point, just about halfway in the Mediterranean and within the easiest access of Marseilles, Barcelona, Naples, Venice, Trieste and France, it prides itself on being the most likely gateway between the Eastern Mediterranean and the Western. Even with commerce coming beyond the Straits of Gibraltar, it is pointed out by Sicilians Catania can with more ease be utilized as the distributing point for the Spanish, French, Italian, Balkan and African countries.

KIDNAPER MAKES SERIOUS MISTAKE

On Monday last, just as the shades of night were settling over the smaller city of McGill, a beautiful Pierce-Arrow car stopped where some children were playing. One of the occupants of the car got out and distributed candy among the kiddies and then picked up the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Linnell and disappeared down the road towards Ely. The children did not realize that something of unusual importance had occurred until a little later when Mrs. Linnell came searching for her young son. The children then told what had happened. The mother lost no time in notifying the officers of McGill of the occurrence, who phoned the news to Sheriff Bill Enslow, who in turn notified all deputies of the county to keep a sharp lookout for the kidnaper. Every peace officer in the district put the entire night sleuthing, but without results. A number of peculiar circumstances seemed to surround the father of the child, who was placed under arrest on the following day, but later released, and the search continued without result. On Wednesday the sheriff's office was notified that a child had been left at the hotel at Cherry Creek by travelers who immediately passed on through the town, and upon further investigation this was proved to be the child kidnapper from McGill. It was put in charge of Conductor House of the Nevada Northern and returned to its mother at McGill.

An explanation to this strange case of child kidnapping is given by Sheriff Enslow as follows: "Some time ago a gentleman by the name of Scott called upon the sheriff and stated that he was in search of a son, five years of age whom he had not seen for more than two years. He stated that he and his wife had been divorced and that the court gave him the custody of the child, but that the mother disappeared with it and that he had reason to believe that she was now at McGill, and asked the sheriff to assist him in recovering the child. He was referred to District Attorney Edwards, who informed him that he would have the assistance of local officers in recovering the child, providing he secured the proper papers from the courts of California, and this he agreed to do. It is now the supposition of the officers that Scott did not wait for the legal documents from California, but concluded to kidnap his own son, but in his haste or perhaps owing to the darkness, failed to recognize him, and picked up the wrong child. Before reaching Cherry Creek he evidently realized his mistake, left the child there and 'beat it' out of the country as fast as his Pierce-Arrow would carry him.

SAILOR LLOYD TAKES THE K. O.

(By Doc Billy Morris)

Joe Welch added to his laurels by knocking out sailor Charley Lloyd in the eleventh round of what was scheduled to be a twenty-five round affair at the Airborne last night. The finish came after the gob picked himself off the floor where he was taking all that the law allowed him as the result of stopping a crashing left hook on the point. A right-hander, beautifully timed by the loose-muscle Welch, knocked his man down and it was a foregone conclusion that the sailor was through for the evening. He was dragged to his corner and still had "bats in his belly" when seen in his dressing room ten minutes later.

The boxers started right in from the first bell with Welch, who is a veteran over the long-distance route playing it safe. He allowed the strong sailor to carry the mulling to him and at times looked bad. But a review of the fight shows that Lanky Joe had the tough blue-jacket picking himself off the canvas no less than four times. A left hook to the jaw in the fifth and a clean right to the same place in the ninth sent the seafarer down but Welch apparently was taking no chances with the strong youngster in front of him and ended his time.

Welch's footwork was not quite up to the standard. He slouched and leaped around in a slovenly manner and to tell the truth did not look like a winner up to the time that he connected in the eleventh. Joe explains this by saying that the first flooring was the worst he ever fought on. The canvas was as hilly as a row of beans and the lanky fighter maintains that it makes no difference how one looks in early stages of a 25-round contest anyway. Like Marshal Foch, he knew the limit of his foe's resources.

Jimmy O'Connell was given the verdict over Dummy Guthrie in the fourth round of the preliminary after the boys had went over the ropes into the laps of the spectators and the Dummy was unable to continue.

Emory Arnold was the third man in the ring and kept the main-eventers at it all the time. Harry Bramer and Eddie Ketchell whizzed on the Fourth of July to determine who is to get a chance at Johnny Kilbane's crown on Labor Day were introduced and received a good hand.

A good house attended the bouts.

Explaining Falling of Leaves.
The shedding of leaves in autumn may be due to physiological drought. The soil contains sufficient moisture, but the temperature of the soil may be too low to enable the trees to absorb it. "June drop" of oranges and many similar losses may be due to similar causes.
